然后的人的,这个人可以不是一个人的

Dear Mr. Thomas:

It came to my attention today that some pieces of literature prepared for the Marta Macias Brown for Congress campaign were printed without the appropriate disclaimer stating that the literature was paid for and authorized by the campaign's committee. While the literature clearly bears the name and address of the campaign, it does not clearly state that it was paid for and authorized by the campaign, as it should have.

I wanted to bring this matter to your attention promptly, and to express my deepest regret for this oversight. While I take responsibility for this error, I was not aware that the required language was not added to the literature by the campaign's mail designer, which is the usual process by which mail is produced by the campaign. Please be assured that this oversight was an error committed in good faith, and that I will carefully monitor future compliance with this requirement.

Again, I deeply regret this oversight. Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require any additional information regarding this matter or any other related to the campaign.

Sincerely,

Bobi Johnson

Campaign Manager

MARTA MACÍAS BROWN

FOR U.S. CONGRESS

A TRADITION OF COMMUNITY SERVICE.

Growing up in San Bernardino.

Marta Macías Brown has spent her entire life, growing up, going to school, raising a family and working for a better community here in San Bernardino County. Marta attended San Bernardino High School, San Bernardino Valley College, California State University San Bernardino, and graduate school at the University of California, Riverside.

In 1980, Marta Macías joined the staff of Congressman George Brown. They were married in 1989 in Riverside. Marta and George Brown became an inseparable team, working together on legislation and helping local residents solve problems with the federal government. No one is better prepared to continue this tradition of community service in the U.S. Congress.

A champion for local seniors.

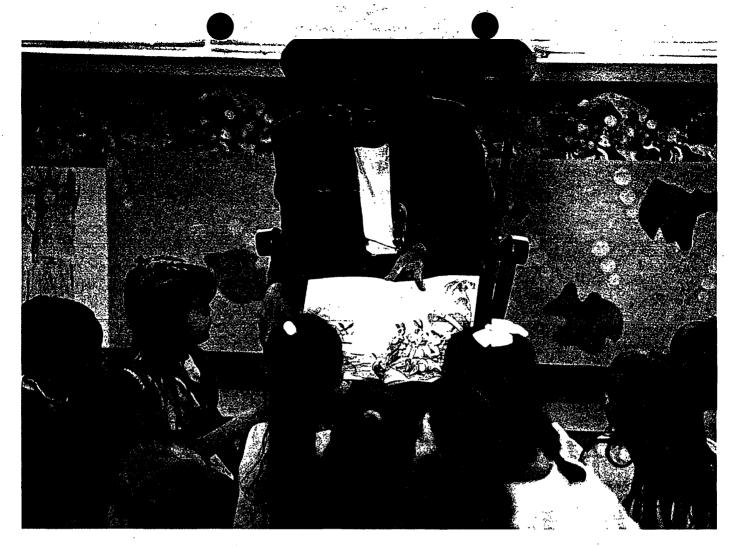

After graduating college, Marta Macías Brown dedicated her life to public service. One of her first jobs was as Director of Information for the newly formed Area Agency on Aging. In that position she created a countywide information network, a monthly newspaper for seniors, and an ombudsman program for seniors in nursing homes.

Marta Macías Brown is still a leader on senior issues. As a member of the Board of Ramona

Senior Housing, Inc., Marta Macías Brown helps over 100 local seniors secure quality affordable housing and has worked to create a community health care unit at Casa Ramona.

Marta Macías Brown will take her strong voice for local seniors to the U.S. Congress. She will work to preserve Social Security and Medicare first, address the growing need for long-term care under Medicare, and prescription coverage.

ition of community service.

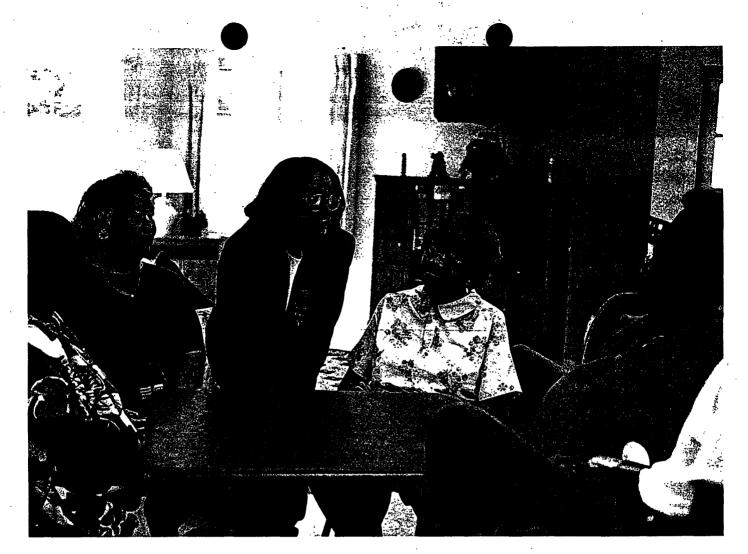

An advocate for excellence in education.

Marta Macías Brown has made access to quality education one of her life's priorities. For five years, she worked for the University of California at Riverside where she assisted the University in developing better outreach programs to help more students prepare for and succeed in the University of California system.

Currently, Mrs. Brown serves on the California State University, San Bernardino Advisory Board, serving as an advisor to the President on community needs. She established the Inland Empire Educational Foundation to foster educational programs in math, science, and humanities; scholarship programs, art competitions; and a series of new educational enrichment programs.

As our next Congresswoman, Marta Macías Brown will be an effective voice for quality schools and expanded access to higher education.

Helping people solve problems.

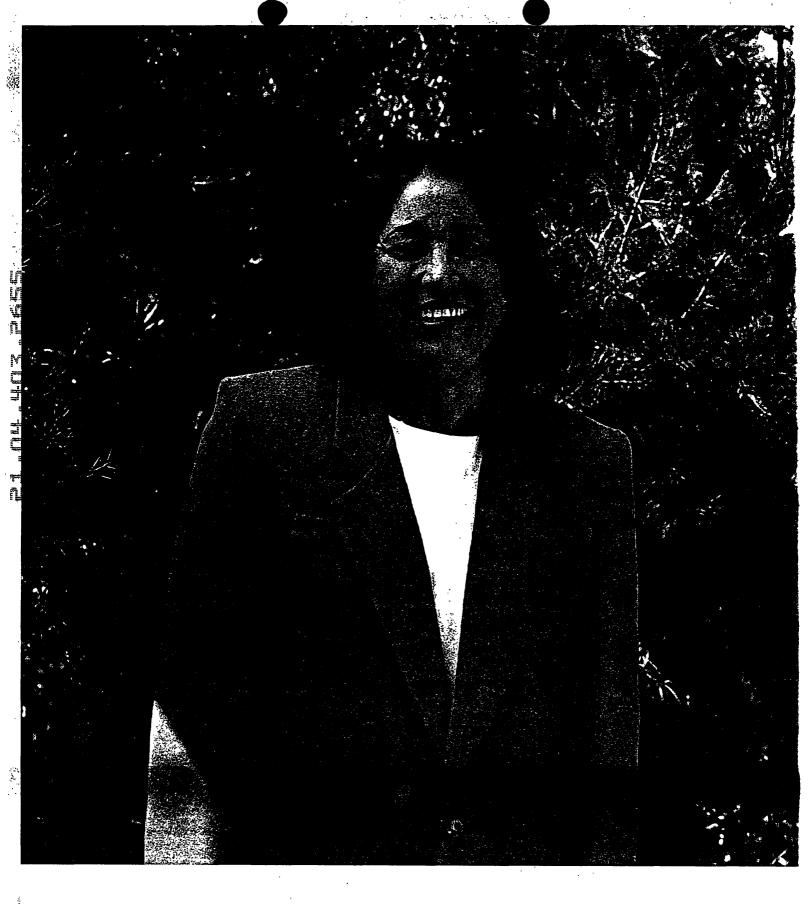

In 1980, Marta Macías Brown began working with Congressman George Brown.

Congressman Brown was known for providing outstanding community services. When residents of the Inland Empire needed help solving a problem with a federal bureaucracy they would frequently turn to Congressman Brown's office.

As District Administrator for Congressman Brown's Colton and San Bernardino offices, Marta Macías Brown helped thousands of residents with veteran's benefits, education programs, Social Security, Medicare, small business loans, and many other issues.

Dealing with the federal bureaucracy can be an intimidating experience. Marta Macías Brown knows that service to your district is the first priority. She will be an effective voice for our district in Washington.

Marta Macías Brown. A trac

A plan for a better and safer Inland Empire.

Reducing gun violence.

We need a Member of Congress with the courage to stand up to the radical gun lobby and work for sensible gun safety laws. Marta Macías Brown supports requiring guns to be sold with trigger locks to protect children. She supports a 3-day waiting period and background check for sales at gun shows, and she will work to ban assault weapons and Saturday Night Specials.

Protecting Social Security and Medicare.

With the federal budget showing the first surpluses in decades, Marta Macías Brown believes we have a historic opportunity to preserve Social Security and Medicare for our children and grandchildren. Marta Macías Brown will oppose irresponsible tax giveaways to millionaires until we've kept our promise to future generations. Marta Macías Brown will work to expand long-term care coverage for seniors and to pass a HMO Patient's Bill of Rights.

A champion for quality schools.

For over 25 years, Marta Macías Brown has worked for quality public education. As a member of Congress, Marta Macías Brown will continue her husband's work to increase national academic standards in math and science. She'll work to help local school districts hire and train teachers and cut class sizes. Marta Macías Brown will also work to increase federal student loan and grant programs to help students attend college.

A healthy environment.

Marta Macías Brown believes we can successfully balance our need for economic growth and more jobs with a commitment to a healthy environment for our children. Marta Macías Brown will vigorously oppose efforts to weaken federal clean air and drinking water standards. She will work to protect environmentally sensitive open space and to expand parks and recreational opportunities in urban areas.
